The fire between 11 and 12 o'clock was in the Louisville Industrial School, a benevolent institution, on Sixth street, below Main. We are sorry to learn that the Rev. Mr. J. J. McDivitt, who has charge of the school, lost his entire library. The building was saved, but everything saved in it was damaged by water.
The down express train from Frankfort this morning broke down at Smithfield. No damage of consequence was done. The train suffered a delay of about two hours, and got in at 1 o'clock.
A case of robbery, which is reported in our proceedings of the city court, develops an extraordinary chain of circumstantial evidence against the party accused. Officer Rust, who brought it to light, deserves credit for the sagacity which he displayed in the matter.
The 9 P. M. train from Cincinnati on the Ohio and Mississippi railroad met with an accident at Dillsboro on Friday night. The locomotive broke through a bridge and the tender and baggage-car ran into it. A fireman was slightly injured.

The R. J. Ward.—We thank the courteous officers of this steamer for New Orleans papers of the evening of the 6th, and manifest and memorandum.
The Ward made the trip up in 6½ days.
She will return to New Orleans on Monday.

POLICE PROCEEDINGS.—Saturday, March 13.
John Watson, alias Louis Haynes, alias Louis White, alias Nick Smith, suspected felon. Mr.
Head arrested him last night at the Capitol. He was drunk, and had burglars' tools in his pocket.
One of the officers stated he had been informed that he was just out of the Indiana penitentiary. The accused admitted that he had been drunk, but stated that the tools had been given him by a woman at the theater, and that he was from Fort Leavenworth bound to Knox county, Ohio. Bail in $300 for six months. He gave the bail.
Henry Martin, stealing $140 from Geo. Richards.
Richards lives in Indiana. Saw the accused at Mr.
Yeager's, in this city, on the night of the 28th ult.
He came down with a load of butter in a skiff on Wednesday evening about 1 o'clock. Went to Yae-ger's, had $140 in his pocket, was much fatigued, and laid down. Accused was in the room with others. Fell asleep and did not wake up till 10 o'clock that night. His money was gone. Among it were a $100, a $50, and a $5 Kentucky bill, two Indiana bills, and some other money. On cross examination, witness stated that McLean, one of the men in the room, at first refused to submit to a search, but finally consented. Did not know whether he did so before he left the room. Mr. Clark stated that accused bought a knife and a pocket book of him about 10 o'clock on Wednesday night and paid him a $3 bill. Mr. Beckinwald is bar-keeper at Duprais's in Portland. He did not know accused, but he came to him on Thursday morning and deposited $110—$100 bill on the Bank of Kentucky and two $5 bills.
The bills were shown to witness, who identified them.
Mr. Bosquet testified that accused bought of him on Thursday morning a pair of boots and paid him $5 for them. Mr. Yeager says that accused told him on Tuesday he had no money to pay his board, but would get it by Saturday. Officer Rust arrested the boy at Portland. Defense introduced no testimony. Bail in $500 to answer a felony. Committed. Martin is a good looking youth of 17 years.
Morgan and Dennis McSweeney and Mary Kern, huckstering without license. Dismissed at defendants' costs.

Several cases for selling liquor to slaves, brought under the late act passed by the Legislature, were called up. As an official copy of the law had not been received, the cases were laid over for a week.
The penalty of conviction under this law is forfeiture of license, and none can be granted to the convicted party for three years.
The case of Daniel Sears, charged with killing Alexander Halliday, which was set for to-day, was postponed till Monday morning.

BARN-BURNING.—We learn from the Paris Citizen, that the barn of Mr. O. H. Burbridge, of Bourbon, was destroyed by fire last week. The loss will amount to about $800. It is stated that the building was undoubtedly set on fire.

On Tuesday night last, the barn of Mr. Charles H. Innes, of Fayette, was consumed with all its contents, consisting of ten tons of hemp, a carriage, agricultural implements, &c. The loss in this instance reached $4,000. The negroes of Mr. Robert Innes have confessed their guilt of the crime, and implicated a third. The barn of Mr. Robert Innes who lives near his brother, was burned a short time ago and it is more than probable that the same slaves did it.

XXXVTH CONGRESS—FIRST SESSION.

Conclusion of Senate Report.

WASHINGTON, March 12.

Senate.—Mr. Hunter concluded by saying that perhaps at this moment the heart of Young America is pondering a thing which neither the Senator from New York nor I dream of—searching out, nursing, and guiding the tendencies of the times into the mighty future and into new forms of government.
Other great nations are engaged in grand schemes, playing for the stakes of an Empire. The spoils of nations, that have been accumulating for centuries, are now attracting the three great powers of Europe.
The eagles are gathered to the feast. But one, the youngest of them, is absent. Such a state of things cannot long endure; our instincts for Empire forbid it. Kansas is dwarfed by the side of such great issues.

If the Senator from New York will lend me his tripod, I will undertake to prophesy that this Union will be preserved; that respect will still follow the judicial ermine; that we shall at some future day cultivate a spirit of conciliation and harmony, without which the best part of liberty will be lost. To realize these things, the American people must cease from the councils of the Senator from New York. They must beware of the asp that lurks under the flower, of the hydra-headed monster that venom may bring lethargy on the brain and disturb the balance of the empire.

Mr. Kennedy, of Md., defined his position. He said he stood there in peculiar circumstances as the Representative of a party without a voice. He had from the outset repudiated the principles of the Kansas-Nebraska bill, because it repealed the Missouri compromise. He was not responsible for the results that followed that repeal. He was under no obligations to the Democratic party, but having watched the course of that party and the President on this measure he felt compelled to accord to them his support. He went into a personal explanation.
He referred to his former position in the Whig party, and his allegiance to the Know Nothings, saying he rejoiced to have the opportunity of defending the latter on the floor of the Senate.

He then passed to the subject immediately before the Senate. He should vote for the admission of Kansas under the common constitution, because he believed before God that he was acting rightly.
He must vote for one party or the other. He could not vote on national questions without the opposing party, because the party was sectional. Slavery, he contended, was not a question of national politics but of political economy, and the laws of political economy will not permit slavery to remain for five years north of 36 degrees 30 minutes, owing to the demand for slave labor in the South. He introduced statistical statements to show that slave labor is inadequate to the present wants of the cotton growing regions.

Returning to the question of Kansas, he protested against a sectional discussion on the subject. It had no rightful connection with it. He was, he said, a conservative, middle man, equally opposed to sectionism and ruffianism, whether it comes from the North or the South. He expressed regret at the coupling of Minnesota with Kansas, and referred to the clause in the constitution of the former which he considered odious, dangerous, and foreign; he then read the clause, which defines the clause who may exercise the elective franchise. In alluding to the eigners and Indian half-breeds, squatter sovereignty and alien suffrage, he said they were principles he abhorred. He concluded by saying that Kansas might alter her constitution if she pleased the same as Maryland did three days ago.
Mr. Wade got the floor, when the Senate adjourned.

LATER FROM TEXAS.—The New Orleans papers have Texas dates up to the 3d inst.

A terrible encounter took place in the streets of Galveston on the 2d, between Sam Horton, steward of the steamer Neptune, and Dr. Fredman, in which both were wounded, though not fatally, Horton being shot in the neck and Fredman in the head. Duffield Green during the fight was severely cut in the hand.

The municipal election, held on the 2d inst. in Galveston, resulted in the election of Thomas M.
Joseph as Mayor.

The steamer Gov. Pease, Capt. Peacock, took fire, the 28th ult., on Trinity River, half a mile below Alabama, and was totally destroyed, with her cargo of 1,440 bales of cotton. The crew and passengers were all saved, but with difficulty, as the boat was under way when the fire broke out. The boat was uninsured. Only 600 bales of cotton was insured.

The Austin Gazette says that the Hon. John B.
Costa has received his commission as Consul to Nice, and will leave in April next for his post.

The San Antonio Texan learns that the court martial in that city on Capt. N. G. Evans has closed, and that Capt. Evans has been found guilty of only a portion of the charges preferred against him.

At San Antonio, on the 21st ult., a severe norther sprang up, and on the morning of the 22d the thermometer was below the freezing point, but (the Texan believes) there was very little damage done by the frost.

A great fire took place at Liberty, the 28th ult., by which the largest part of the business portion of the town was burned. The buildings destroyed are valued at $10,000.

The Houston Reporter says there is a kind of sand in the San Jacinto river which has proved to be of the greatest value in the manufacture of glass.

AFRAY IN PERRYVILLE, KY.—We learn from the Danville Tribune, of the 12th inst., that an affray occurred in Perryville on Saturday evening last, between Mr. James Shackelford, and Edward and John Calvert (brothers), which resulted in the death of Edward Calvert, who was stabbed in the back by Shackelford. John Calvert was also wounded by a shot from a revolver, which went off in his hands during the melee. Shackelford was tried before an examining court on Monday, and discharged from custody on the ground that he acted in self-defense.

Advices from Key West state that the wrecked ship Riversmith has been sold for $37 and her cargo and materials brought $2,600.

The wrecked ship Agamenon and her cargo had been disposed of. All the lard and about 5,500 bbls. of flour had been sold. The flour averaged $2 per bbl.

Among the victims on the steamer Eliza Battle was Mr. Lewis Y. Martin, who, the Lexington Observer informs us, was one of the oldest and most respectable citizens of Fayette.

Mr. Murdoch commences an engagement at the Lexington theater on Monday night.

STRANGE ADVENTURES.—Two girls, aged fourteen and sixteen years, arrived in Bloomington on Sunday night at 12 o'clock. They tell the following story: They are from Tennessee, where their parents died some months ago. After the death of their parents, they started for Panola, in this State, where a brother and sister of theirs reside. Previous to their arrival in Cairo, their baggage and money were stolen from them. They walked from Cairo to Springfield—the journey occupying nearly three weeks—and applied to Governor Matteson for relief.
The Governor gave them passes to this city. When they arrived here they went to a brick hotel near the Western depot and applied for lodging. They were told that they could stay if they would agree to certain conditions. They were not willing to comply with those conditions, and they left the brick hotel and went to a hotel not more than a dozen squares from the court-house. The clerk of the last named hotel refused to give them a room, but with them to the American Hotel, where they were properly cared for. Such is the substance of the story told by the girls, who are inclined to believe, are nothing more nor less than they represent themselves to be. They are certainly objects of pity, and we hope they will be enabled to leave for Panola this evening.—Springfield Pantagraph, 9th.

EVENING BULLETIN.

MEXICO.—The Washington States has the following:

When Gen. Houston's resolution concerning our relations with Mexico and the Central American States was before the Senate, it was remarked by Mr. Toombs that the whole subject must soon be considered by the Senate, and there is no doubt that it will be during the present session.

The public mind is impressed with the idea that the time is at hand when the United States must adopt a policy looking to the relief of Mexico from the condition of chronic anarchy and confusion in which she is plunged. A triangular civil war appears to prevail there—the parties to which are the government of Zuloaga, in the City of Mexico; the constitutional government, under Juarez, at Guadalupe; and the government of Gen. Vidaurri, in the Northern States.

Some dissatisfaction has been expressed at the course of our minister, Mr. Forsyth, in recognizing as the actual government the temporary creation of the church party, against which the liberal party of the country is combined. If we are to make any treaty with Mexico, for the mutual benefit of that country and this, it should be with that government which represents the liberal party and the greatest number of the people.

The following striking remarks of the New York Tribune in regard to our relations with Mexico, challenge some attention. "A protectorate," says the able exponent of English views on the subject, "over Mexico is still vaguely hinted; though, to tell the truth, we wish it were annexation, based upon some decent pretext."

"The alternative between priest-ridden absolutists and sham reformers would paralyze the energies of any people. We would, therefore, that the stars and stripes floated over those romantic but now worthless hills of the Montezumas; that the immense debt due to Great Britain were a fair way of liquidation; and that we were driving a flourishing trade with Vera Cruz." Apropos of his own countrymen, the editor says: "If you, O staunch and most conservative countrymen, who would always be taking and never giving, deem these words akin to treason, learn that they express the sentiments of the London Times, with which popular authority we are glad for once to agree."
